

Non-commercial export of dogs and cats to the European Union (EU)

This advisory is based on EU regulation No 577/2013,

If your situation differs in any way from the proposed process, or if you have information from the veterinary authority of the importing country that differs from the process described below, please contact your local state veterinarian to discuss the matter.

Exporters are advised to verify the requirements of the importing country by contacting the veterinary authorities, or their representatives in South Africa, in advance of each consignment.

Non-commercial export of dogs and cats is defined as the owner or an authorised natural person (authorised in writing by the owner) who must be traveling with the pet or within 5 days of the pet arriving in the EU. If this is not possible please refer to the procedure for commercial exports of dogs and cats to the EU.

Procedure

A. For pets travelling for the first time, the process will take at least 4 months.

- i. The pet MUST have a transponder (Microchip) implanted and/ read by a veterinarian.
- ii. The pet must have a rabies vaccination administered by a registered veterinarian. A rabies vaccination is only considered valid if it was administered in an animal that is older than 12 weeks of age and if it was administered after the implantation or reading of the transponder
- iii. After the rabies vaccination, the client must wait a MINIMUM of 30 days before taking their pet to a private veterinarian for a rabies neutralising antibody titre (RNAT) blood test. The vaccination day = day 0
- iv. The client must wait a MINIMUM of 90 days (3 months) after the date the blood was drawn for the test before a health certificate can be completed by a private veterinarian, however the issuing of the health certificate is dependent on the results of the RNAT test being above the limit set by the EU (>0.5 IU/ml).
- v. Within 120 hours (5 days) of travelling BUT NOT LESS THAN 24 HOURS, the pet must see a private veterinarian for a health check (and Echinococcus multilocularis treatment in the case of dogs travelling to Malta, Ireland, Finland or the UK) and the private veterinarian must complete a veterinary health certificate for dogs and cats travelling to the EU (not the 'old' EU certificate).
- vi. The client must bring the completed health certificate (which MUST indicate the date AND time of the Echinococcus multilocularis treatment where applicable) as well as the following documents to the local state vet office for authorisation:
 1. Original and certified copy of the blood test results

2. Vaccination booklet and a certified copy – this should incorporate the identification page and the page with the relevant rabies vaccination recorded
3. Proof of date of transponder implantation in the form of a certified copy of the transponder implantation certificate or a letter from the private veterinarian that indicates the transponder number and the date the transponder was read.
4. Written declaration referred to in Article 25(3) of Regulation (EU) No 576/2013 (See appendix)
5. The boarding pass or flight ticket of the owner or authorised natural person.
6. If there are more than 5 animals the receipt of entry to the event or proof of membership of a dog/cat show or club.

B. For pets that have travelled before, that have completed the blood test previously AND that have been revaccinated against rabies within the period of validity of a previous vaccination according to the manufacturer's recommendations

- i. Should the revaccination occur within South Africa a separate vaccination certificate / book will need to be issued. South African veterinarians are not legally permitted to enter information into the EU pet passport.
 - ii. The procedure as described from point A.(v.) above, onwards needs to be followed.
 - iii. Transponder must still be readable/ active
- Certificate application cost can be found on the departmental tariff list (Cost per application in 2017 is R130 each). The cost of the certificate application is payable on appointment.
